

The following conditions for Registration and Participation apply. By signing up for one of our classes or events, you agree to the following policies:

Requirement for training participants:

- Up to two persons over the age of 12 years per dog are welcome to attend class. Participants under 15yrs must be accompanied by an adult. If other arrangements are necessary, please email us in advance at info@coldnosecompanions.com so we may discuss.
- Participants must be able to handle and restrain their dogs safely or must bring an assistant who will do so for them.
- Private sessions can be attended with several family members. Children may accompany adults at the guardians' discretion. Children must be supervised and under the care of a responsible adult at all times while attending sessions. It will be helpful to have an additional adult present to assist with young children.
- Cold Nose Companions is not liable for injury to participants by the dog or any equipment in the training center. Therefore, if supervision of children is difficult, it will be safest for them to stay home.

Payments and Refunds:

- Payment for classes must be made online at the latest when participants receive the reminder email about one week before the beginning of class. Payment is due at sign up if the class starts within less than a week. Arrangements for exceptions must be discussed in advance in person, by phone, or email. If you are unable to pay online, please contact us at (855) 286 3647 or info@coldnosecompanions.com.
- Payment for private sessions must be made online and is due when client receives the email confirmation for the session. If in person payment is preferred, it needs to be discussed with the instructor of the session at the time of sign up.
- Cold Nose Companions has to be notified of withdrawals from class or cancellations of private sessions at least 24 hours in advance. Requests for refunds will not be granted if made less than 24 hours in advance. Direct communication with staff is not necessary to cancel. Cancellations and withdrawal notices can be sent by email to info@coldnosecompanions.com or by leaving a message at (855) 286 3647.
 - In case of urgent medical reasons notice has to be given by voicemail or email before the start of class or other event even if it is less than 24hours. Requests for refund without advance notice will be declined.

Missed sessions of group classes and events:

- Please pay close attention to the class schedule before signing up. Although, most of the sessions will be in consecutive weeks, occasionally, classes have skip days due to holidays, events, or instructor's need. In those cases classes will span more weeks than the number of sessions.
- Participants are responsible for their timely and regular attendance. No refunds/credits are given for missed sessions. If a session is missed, the participant will still receive the homework for the session by email and the instructor will help catch the participant up (within reason) "on the go" during the following session. It is absolutely possible to miss a session and still be very successful in the class. We appreciate notification in advance if a session will be missed.
- In the event a session or event is cancelled due to severe weather or other unforeseen circumstance, Cold Nose Companions will reschedule. In the winter months skip weeks are built into the schedule to allow the delay of a session due to weather. In the event of a session cancellation, participants will be notified within hours that day via email and/or phone call, the class will then run one week longer than appears on the schedule.
- Registration fees are 100% refundable if Cold Nose Companions cancels the class or event entirely.

Responsibilities of handlers:

- All dogs must be wearing well-fitting, escape-proof collars and/or harnesses and be attached to a non-retractable leash at all times. Leashes are not to exceed 6' in length. Leashes must remain attached to the owner unless the leash is secured to the floor restraints in the training room. Detachment of the dog from the handler's leash can only be permitted by the course instructor.
- Handlers must come equipped with a large number of small, high-value treats in a training pouch that can be worn on the handlers body. Plastic bags such as Ziplock bags and pockets are not recommended to hold treats. If handlers run out of treats or come without, training treats may be purchased at the center.
- Participants are expected to arrive on time but no more than 15 minutes before the beginning of class. Late arrivals once class starts are very disruptive to all participants and should be avoided.
- Some dogs may struggle with other dogs or people at close distance. Handlers are asked to respect others' space and never approach without invitation.
- Cold Nose Companions reserves the right to remove participants from a class or events and discontinue a private session for a number of reasons. Amongst others, reasons include
 - Concerns for the well-being of participant's dog
 - Concerns for the safety of other dogs or people in the class due to actions or non-actions of the participant or participant's dog
 - Disrespectful behavior towards other class participants and instructors

- Irresponsible behavior on the handler's part and neglecting to follow safety directions of the instructor
- Inappropriate treatment of a dog by their handler including but not limited to hitting, choking, kicking, pinching, yelling at, applying "leash corrections", or otherwise willfully causing any pain to the dog
- Failure to provide medical documentation as listed below

Assessment and conditions for removal of the handler and dog are at the sole discretion of the course instructor and/or ownership of Cold Nose Companions. Refund requests for the above-mentioned reasons will not be granted.

Suitability of classes:

- In rare cases Cold Nose Companions may ask you and your dog to come in for an evaluation prior to starting a group class. There is no charge for this evaluation, scheduled during normal operating hours. However, evaluations are not common.
- Even after several sessions of a class the instructor may recommend to place participants in a class that may be more suitable to the dog's behavior and temperament or schedule private sessions rather than continuing class. The class fee prorated for sessions already taken may be credited towards the new class or sessions.
- A dog barking, being restless, or lacking focus is not unusual in class - especially in the first couple of sessions - and is not a reason to remove participants from class. If you feel you or your dog are struggling, please discuss with your course instructor. There are many things we can do to help you be successful in class. If you chose not to participate in class anymore without discussing with your instructor, requests for refunds will be declined.

Medical requirements for dogs:

- Dogs must appear free of disease and healthy to participate in training.
- Physical disabilities (e.g. deafness or missing limbs) do NOT prevent a dog from participating in class. If you feel special accommodations need to be made due to your dog's disability, please inform us before the beginning of class.
- Rabies vaccination is mandatory for all dogs over six months of age participating in classes or private sessions. Expiration dates will be accepted as provided by the veterinary office. No exceptions will be made.
- Dogs participating in group classes are required to be current on age-appropriate vaccination for distemper, adenovirus, parvovirus, parainfluenza, and leptospirosis. These vaccines are commonly given as a combination vaccine abbreviated DAPP-L or DHLPP or similar. Expiration dates will be accepted as noted by the veterinary office.

- Vaccine requirements may be waived due to health concerns. A note by the dog's veterinarian will be required in place of the vaccination records. Rabies vaccination in a dog older than six months will still be required.
- A fecal exam with a negative result for intestinal parasites within one year of the end of class is required for all dogs participating in group classes. Regular deworming or keeping the dog on a heartworm prevention does not replace the exam. Fecal exams usually don't require a vet appointment. You should be able to drop off a sample at a veterinary office and get results within 1-2 days. Please plan accordingly.
- We strongly recommend vaccination against kennel cough (Bordetella) as well, however, this vaccination is not obligatory.
- Cold Nose Companions will accept alternatives to regular vaccinations such as vet certified titers only with current veterinary documentation.
- All required medical documentation – including the negative results of the fecal exam – need to be submitted by the beginning of class. Please plan accordingly. Failure to produce medical documentation by the second session of the class will lead to exclusion of the dog from class until records can be updated. Human participants are welcome to attend the class by themselves if that comes to be. No refunds will be issued for lack of medical documentation and subsequent exclusion of the dog.
